

Join IATF Members in Shanghai for an Official Introduction of IATF 16949:2016

WHEN:

March 29, 2017
9:30 am – 4:00 pm

WHERE:

Marriott Hongqiao Hotel
Shanghai, China

REGISTRATION COST:

Complimentary (courtesy of
FCA Asia Pacific, GM China, Ford Asia Pacific).

Space is limited to the first 250 who register, limit 2
attendees per company.

TO REGISTER:

email: admin@aiag.com.cn

SPECIAL THANKS TO SPONSORS:

ANFIA, IAOB, IATF France,
SMMT, VDA-QMC

Join representatives from IATF members Ford, GM, FCA US, Volkswagen, BMW, Daimler, PSA Group, AIAG and VDA-QMC, as well as representatives from the International Automotive Oversight Bureau (IAOB) as they bring you up to date on what changes in the new standard mean to you and when certification needs to be completed.

Why Attend?

In the Automotive Standard Update session, attendees will hear about the changes directly from members of the IATF 16949 revision project team. So you will hear not only what changed, but why.

- Scott Gray: Member of the IATF 16949 Revision Team and Quality Program Director, AIAG
- Russ Hopkins: Leader of the IATF 16949 Revision Team, Ford Motor Company

In the Certification Rules Session, important changes to the Rules for Achieving and Maintaining IATF Recognition will be explained. The revision to these rules affect both the Certification Body (CB) and the site wanting to become Certified.

- Sam Chen: General Manager of IATF Beijing Administrative Office, IAIOB, China

In the Transition Strategy Update, guidance on navigating the constraints on the transition process will be shared with the attendees.

- Sam Chen: General Manager of IATF Beijing Administrative Office, IAIOB, China

Attendees will also get the latest information on tools and training courses offered in China by AIAG and VDA-QMC to support the suppliers in successful transition to IATF 16949.